

The hustle and bustle of the Annual BBH Print Society Exhibition at the Rhodes Gallery in Bishops Stortford is now over - phew ! It was a lovely venue and my thanks go to other BBH members who worked hard to make it a success.

Sales were made - never enough, of course, but I don't judge the success of an exhibition in money terms. It's all about exposure and pride of presentation - and this was a LOVELY SHOW. Many helped over the Meet the Artist Saturdays, breakdown and collection - thank you - all the members produced great quality work - well done to all who took part.

I finished the last large interior piece for my London client. I am very pleased- it took ages to put all the copper leaf on but the end result looks very striking She was very pleased so there maybe more work down the line - you never know.

Hatfield Living Crafts - Designer Marquee B 8th - 11th May

I am pleased to have been invited to participate at Hatfield Living Crafts in the Designer Marquee. I've been taking part at the show for many years now, initially independently and for the last couple of years in conjunction with the BBH Print Society. I will be demonstrating and exhibiting my new work – I will be in Marquee B (Design Monthly).

If you want a lovely day out with lots to see and enjoy, come along to Hatfield House. I'd love to see you there - no rain please! Hatfield House, Old Hatfield, Herts, AL9 5NQ

6th Mentmore Arts Festival 24th - 26th May

Raising money for Florence Nightingale Hospice and other local charities

I am in the village hall in Mentmore and there is also a big exhibition in the church. This is considered a very good art exhibition with many professional artists taking part. So why not come along and see what the selected artists of the surrounding counties are contributing to this year's Mentmore Arts Festival
