

Only two weeks left on the 'Art for Interiors' exhibition – lighting is extremely poor so if you do manage to get there before it finishes, go in the day .

Already picked up two commissions from the exhibition- big ones again too, so looking forward to them - getting together with the clients just before Christmas to work out their requirements to start in the new year .

Fantastic news we are going to be on TV Sky Arts Landscape Artist of the year. We saw our printing press being used in a trailer for the up and coming event - it looked great. The artist produced a beautiful print – great advert. We knew they had used it in the show but did not know whether they would show that part. I have experienced filming before for the BBC - they film you all day and you end up on the cutting room floor as if you had never been there !! Thank goodness I am not interested in being famous!

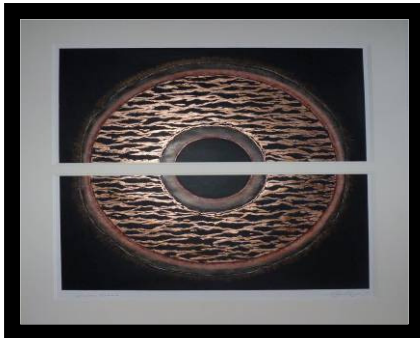

*Had some pleading emails from students asking about 2016 workshops –so here they are –
