

Welcome to my official Spring newsletter – all the trees are in blossom and the days are getting quite warm. Just got back from the preview night for the Hertford Art Trail - quite a big affair with drinks and nibbles for over a hundred people, art talks and the press were there, so may see something in the local papers. I am in the Women Society shop in central Hertford, a very up market independent dress shop which is frequented by the wealthy women of Hertford, so hope to get some good sales.

I have also had a number of private commissions this month, so I have been busy finishing them off and I delivered them last week. Check out the exhibitions coming up - hope to see some of you there.

Great news ... I am pleased to say my new book is back from Emma and it is a beautiful thing – so a final check, then off to the printers to get it published - see website for a pre-order listing offer - www.majorgeorge.co.uk
