

The 'Where are we going' exhibition at the Hertford Theatre Gallery, was very well received with a lot of interest in the poems and images. They even created a film of me talking about it. Unfortunately I look very old and sound a bit stilted. Peter has put it on my website and on Youtube.

.... I don't think there will be many calls on my time as an Arts presenter !!!

22nd Feb - 28th April

This is the last time this exhibition will be on show and it is part of the big 'Art of Poetry' exhibition that Trisha has put together. She has also created a beautiful hard back book of all the poems and art work selected from the exhibition, available at the exhibition and beyond.

Another aspect of this event is the celebration on World book night Tues 23rd April - poetry readings and wine / nibbles 6:30 - 9:00 p.m. Should be a great event - no ticket required.

Squares of Soul

New bespoke range created for interior designers and customers looking for distinctive images in personal Colourways.

I have been extremely busy creating a new collection with the idea of colour matching to the customer requirement. Last year I had 3 commissions from interior designers and felt it was a route I could go down, so 'Squares of Soul' was launched.

Photography was interesting and great fun, and luckily I took photos for website and leaflet as I sold the lot at the first outing !!! So I have been busy replacing and creating the remaining designs waiting to come through - check my website on the Bespoke interior page to see the first results.

Hatfield Living Crafts

Print marquee

Hatfield House, Herts

May 9th - 12th

I am delighted to say Robin has asked me and the BBH Print Society to come again to this huge Art festival set in the grounds of Hatfield House. I have been contributing to this event for 7 years now, two of which have included BBH. We will be in the print marquee demonstrating printmaking and also setting up two 'have a go' printing sections, Mono & drypoint printing. These proved very popular last year, with the number attending the event over the four days reaching 16,000 - luckily they were not in our marquee all at once !!!! The gallery we set up includes all types of hand pulled printing at well below gallery prices - Why not come and visit us - website www.livingcrafts.co.uk for details.
